Overview of the Course

Do you enjoy the challenge of working closely with people and helping them to advance their knowledge, skills and attitudes in a wide range of settings? Then this B.Sc. is the ideal start. If the psychological foundations of learning are important to you and you want to understand how your knowledge can be employed across a range of environments, then we will support your learning through a wide range of methodologies and an enlightened approach to assessment.

Career Prospects

Following this programme your prospects in the adult and further education and training sectors will be greatly enhanced. Organisations such as FÁS, the VECs, CERT, Teagasc, the burgeoning Community Sector, the Prison Service, Employers, Trade Unions and voluntary bodies are involved in Adult Education and offer excellent career opportunities. In addition, this degree will prove a valuable asset for those who want to work in the training divisions of a range of public and private organisations.
