1 Introduction

1.1 The University is committed to providing high quality timetabling and room booking arrangements, which will enhance the service and experience for the entire University community. The University currently has over 35 buildings encompassing some 4,000 rooms and a useable floor area of over 150,000 sq. metres. This document primarily refers to centrally timetabled rooms and aims to promote the optimum utilisation of centrally timetabled rooms both during core business hours and outside of these hours. The document will be reviewed regularly and further developed to support the changing needs of the University

2 Overview

2.1 This document outlines the principles, procedures, roles and responsibilities relating to the teaching timetable and room booking facilities in the University. The document further aims to ensure that i) the University’s space is used to maximum effect for both teaching and income generating purposes ii) the University community is informed of timetabling and room booking practices and principles and iii) an excellent quality of service is provided to all users

2.2 The document will be reviewed on an annual basis and appropriate amendments will be made where necessary

2.3 Co-ordination for the teaching timetable and management of room bookings resides with the Timetabling and Room Booking service in Registry

2.4 The teaching timetable and room bookings are administered on the timetabling system, Syllabus Plus

2.5 This document will be maintained on the DCU website

3 Underlying Principles

3.1 There is a recognition that multiple demands on space occurs within the University and therefore a level of co-operation and compromise must exist

3.2 The most cost-efficient use of centrally timetabled space should be promoted and maintained

3.3 All classrooms/seminar rooms and meeting rooms should be in the timetabling system

3.4 Unnecessary block booking of classrooms is not permitted

3.5 Any rooms designated as meeting rooms cannot be block booked

3.6 Booked space must be used for the stated purpose

3.7 Timetabled space must be used to the maximum efficiency

3.8 Timetabled/booked space must match as closely as possible, the size of the user group
3.9 Timetabling and room bookings must be carried out in such a way as to ensure that buildings are fully utilised before activities are allocated into additional buildings.

3.10 Room bookings which are no longer required must be notified to the Timetabling and Room Booking service as soon as possible, in order that the facility is freed up for other users.

4 Optimisation of Use

4.1 The University is committed to using all space effectively and efficiently, for both teaching and non-teaching activities.

5 Categorisation of Space

5.1 Centrally Timetabled Space – includes space such as lecture rooms, seminar rooms, meeting rooms and function rooms. These rooms can be booked through the Timetabling and Room Booking service in Registry once the teaching timetable is finalised.

6 Ownership of Teaching Space/Meeting Rooms

6.1 It is taken as a premise that no Faculty, School or individual person has absolute control over any building, room or area within the University. Responsibility for allocation of space remains with the University through advice from the University’s Space Planning & Management Group (see section 8) to the President.

6.2 Initial queries from schools, unit and faculties to change the use of centrally timetabled space should, in the first instance, be directed to the University’s Lecture Timetable Co-Ordinator in Registry.

6.3 Registry will consult with the Estates Office on all of these requests. Signed approval by the Registry/Registrar and the Estates Office will be required before the room is removed from the central timetable. If a decision cannot be reached between the Registry/Registrar, Estates Office and the school/faculty/unit requesting a change to a timetabled room, this request will then be referred to the University’s Space Planning & Management Group (see section 7 below).

6.4 A further document on the optimum utilisation of all meeting rooms will be drafted in consultation with the University’s Space Planning & Management Group.

7 Roles and Responsibilities

The following are the key roles and responsibilities of all parties involved in ensuring that the timetabling and room booking service operates as effectively and efficiently as possible:

7.1 Space Planning & Management Group

- The University’s Space Planning & Management Group is a sub-committee of Executive, established to deal with forward planning.

- The terms of reference for the University’s Space Planning & Management Group can be found in Section 5 of the Space Management Policy Guidelines for DCU http://www.dcu.ie/spamg/policy.shtml
- Requests for the allocation of space and the re-designation of type or function of existing space will be subject to the recommendation of the University’s Space Planning & Management Group and approval by Executive
- Additional information regarding the ownership of teaching space and meeting rooms in the University can be found in the Space Management Policy Guidelines for DCU http://www.dcu.ie/spamg/policy.shtml

- Advising the Disability Service of special arrangements that may be required

8 Teaching Week Patterns

8.1 The core teaching week pattern is incorporated into two twelve-week semesters. Syllabus Plus recognises these teaching weeks as:

- Weeks 1 – 12 (semester one)
- Weeks 20 – 31 (semester two)

8.2 It is recognised that some teaching may not fit within this pattern and every effort is made to ensure that any variations to the core teaching patterns are accommodated in the best possible way
9 Key Timetabling Dates, Principles and Process

9.1 April - The previous academic year’s file is rolled over in Syllabus Plus in mid April each year and activities are made ‘automatic’ (includes lectures, seminars and tutorials but not laboratories)

9.2 July – By mid July, faculty timetablers create ‘manual’ activities which must remain. Information on type of location, size etc. is amended, where necessary. The timetable co-ordinator un-schedules automatic activities. The draft scheduling of the timetable commences by relevant faculty office staff

9.3 August – The requirements of each module are placed in the timetabling system. An automatic schedule of activities takes place centrally in mid-August by the timetable co-ordinator. The only activities which should be scheduled in advance of this, are activities outside the norm (i.e. over one hour in duration and modules which are offered across multiple programmes)

9.4 September – In mid September, the timetable (subject to change) is finalised and displayed on the web

9.5 A full-time undergraduate timetable runs a) 9.00 a.m. to 6.00 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Thursday b) 9.00 a.m. to 5.00 p.m. Friday c) 9.00 a.m. to 2.00 p.m. Wednesday d) undergraduates will not normally have lectures outside of these times

9.6 No activities should be scheduled for first year undergraduate students from 2.00pm onwards on a Wednesday afternoon. This should also apply to all other undergraduate years, where feasible. Wednesday afternoons are to be free of academic activities to encourage participation in DCU Clubs and Societies’ activities. (This matter will be considered again by relevant university committees in the autumn of 2010.)

9.7 If students are in on a Friday afternoon, attempts are made to give them a late Monday start

9.8 Part-time programmes may be timetabled between 8.00 a.m. and 10.00 p.m. Monday to Friday and up to 6 p.m. Saturday

9.9 Normally lectures will not be timetabled for Sunday

9.10 Activities should be spread throughout the week in order to make effective use of the rooms and other resources

9.11 When drafting the timetable it is important to provide a one hour break for lunch between 12 noon and 3.00 p.m. Service in the restaurant will be arranged to ensure that full lunch is served up to 2.15 p.m. Overall there should be an attempt to schedule some activities at 1.00 p.m. to prevent pressure on the catering facilities

9.12 Lectures are timetabled to start on the hour and are normally one hour in duration. It is recognised that there may be some exceptions to the duration of lectures. Lectures should end 10 minutes before the end of the time block

9.13 Where possible student teaching and activities will be scheduled into the building primarily associated with the programme of study
9.14 Where all activities are not scheduled in the same building, timetabling should take into account the travel time between buildings.
9.15 Optimisation should reflect a pattern that encourages maximum engagement by students; very large gaps should be avoided.
9.16 Every effort will be made to ensure students have a clash-free timetable. Where a potential clash may exist schools are required to liaise to avoid the clash.
9.17 The Disability and Learning Support Service will liaise with the relevant Faculty Office in relation to new students with accessibility requirements.
9.18 Classes involving students who are wheelchair users should, where possible, be timetabled in ground floor classrooms.
9.19 Activities should be allocated into the following buildings in the order below. This is particularly important after 6.00 pm Monday to Friday and at weekends:

DCUBS
Henry Grattan
School of Nursing
Postgraduate VB
Science Block
Larkin Lecture Theatre

10 Allocation of Teaching Rooms

10.1 In general, all teaching programmes approved by the University will have priority use of teaching facilities during term times.

10.3 Rooms required for examinations will have priority room bookings at appropriate times of the year.
10.4 It is recognised that outside of term times, e.g. May – September the allocation of teaching rooms will service the events which can maximise conference bookings and other events which generate revenue or are considered other University business.

19.2 Initially, users may check the relevant room booking information in advance at http://www.dcu.ie/timetables/search.shtml
